WILMINGTON, NORTH CAROLINA

BIRTHPLACE OF PUBLIC HEALTH IN NORTH CAROLINA

AND OUR FOUNDING FATHERS

Thomas Fanning Wood, M.D.

Thomas Fanning Wood, founder and organizer of the North Carolina State Board of Health, was born February 23, 1841 in Wilmington, NC. The creation of the State Board of Health on February 12, 1877 can be traced to the dedication and untiring work of Dr. Wood and the North Carolina Medical Society. Therefore, Dr. Wood is known as the "father of public health" in North Carolina. He attended public school in Wilmington and served in the Confederate Army from 1861-1865. While serving in the army, he attended lectures at the Medical College of Virginia after which he served in the Medical Corps. He practiced medicine in Wilmington from 1865 until the time of his death on August 22, 1892. During his 51 years, he served as President of the North Carolina Medical Society and founding member and Vice President of the American Public Health Association. In addition, Dr. Wood founded the North Carolina Medical Journal. As North Carolina's first State Health Officer, he served as Secretary/Treasurer of the State Board of Health. A colleague and fellow member of the North Carolina Medical Society remembered Dr. Wood as follows: "He was gentle and affectionate in his nature, and while he boldly denounced wrong-doing, he never lacked the tenderest charity for the shortcomings of his fellow man or failed to help the weak-hearted or wavering soul."

Edward Jenner Wood was born the son of Dr. Thomas Fanning Wood and Mary S. Wood on July 12, 1878, in Wilmington, NC. He graduated from the University of North Carolina and attended Medical School at the University of Pennsylvania where he Received a M.D. degree in 1902. After spending a year in hospitals in England, he returned to Wilmington and reopened this father's medical office in 1892. He continued to practice medicine in Wilmington until his death on September 16, 1928. In addition to practicing medicine, Dr. Edward Jenner Wood published a pioneering book on pellagra. He spent a year in England studying tropical diseases and was awarded the degree of Doctor of Tropical Medicine in 1921. He served as President of the North Carolina Medical Society and was a member of the State Board of Health from 1913 to 1919. In his remembrance, the North Carolina Medical Society recorded these words, "There is nothing so kindly As kindness, and nothing so royal as truth."

Edward Jenner Wood, M.D., D.T.M.

WELCOME

The Local Arrangements Committee and the New Hanover County Health Department would like to welcome you to Wilmington and New Hanover County. Our area is rich in public health history as it was the birth place of public health in North Carolina. Dr. Thomas Fanning Wood, for which our Wood Endowment is named, was the father of the North Carolina State Board of Health and of organized public health in the State. The State Board of Health was located in Wilmington from 1877 to 1892.

We know that you are going to be find a wealth of knowledge in the many programs and workshops that have been planned. You also will have the chance to renew old friendships, make many new ones and certainly enjoy yourself at conference social functions. But most of all, we hope that you will find the time to enjoy our beautiful river front, the many shopping opportunities and, of course, all the great restaurants.

Hopefully, your stay on the Cape Fear Coast will be a memorable one. If there is anything we can do to accomplish this just let us know and we will certainly try.

NCPHA would like to thank the following individuals for their contribution to the success of this Annual Educational Conference and for making us all "feel at home". Please take the time to thank anyone you see with a HOST/HOStESS ribbon.

LETTER OF WELCOME

FROM THE PRESIDENT:

On behalf of the Program and Local Arrangements Committees, I wish to extend a warm NCPHA welcome to everyone in attendance at this, our 91st Annual Educational Conference, at the Riverside Hilton Hotel in beautiful Wilmington, North Carolina. On the accompanying pages, you will find excellent state-of-the-art lectures, skill-building sessions, networking opportunities, etc. to better assist you everyday on-the-job, as well as to better prepare you for the public health challenges of the new millennium. Program Chair Deborah Warren and her committee have organized a fine "line-up" of speakers this year, including the second annual Wood Lecture. We all owe a debt of gratitude to Susan O'Brien and our Hosts from the New Hanover County Health Department, who have worked so hard to help us feel "at home" while away from home this week. Finally, please join me in thanking our colleagues, speakers, exhibitors and others who have played invaluable roles in making this meeting such a big success.

In addition, I want to specifically recognize the various Committee Chairs, Section Chairs and others for all your hard work and dedication during the past year. I truly appreciate your contributions to furthering and strengthening the rich traditions of the North Carolina Public Health Association in working together for healthy communities in our state. The support and involvement of individual members like you, joining together, has been one of NCPHA's greatest strengths for the past 90 years. For members who wish to volunteer their time and talents, NCPHA offers many opportunities to get involved in the life of the Association. Each of you can help make NCPHA stronger through your ideas and active participation.

It has been my pleasure to serve as your President for the past year. I believe that NCPHA enters the new millennium united, strong and well prepared for whatever the future might have in store for it.

Sherman E. Kahn, M.D., President
North Carolina Public Health Association

THE SPIRIT OF PUBLIC HEALTH: SAFEGUARDING HEALTH AND THE ENVIRONMENT

Welcome to the 90th Annual Educational Conference of the North Carolina Public Health Association. I have enjoyed working with Deborah Rowe, Dr. Sherman Kahn, Susan O'Brien and the Program Committee. I feel privileged to have been selected for this responsibility. Public Health is such a major part of my life that serving in this capacity has truly been a labor of love.

I proudly present our Program, which should provide all disciplines with stimulating information and the inspiration needed for the challenges ahead. We welcome Reverend Edwin Sanders as our 2nd Annual Wood Lecturer. I trust you will be as renewed with "The Spirit of Public Health" as I was after listening to his resounding presentation.

Along with the great Section activities and speakers, the NCPHA Program Committee has also arranged for several workshops to be offered throughout this week. Please take advantage of these opportunities to listen to and learn from these leaders in their fields.

We gather each year to renew old friendships and to create new ones, to enhance our knowledge and skills, and to lift ourselves up high enough to look to new horizons. I hope this annual conference will serve you as a time for learning, fellowship and encouragement.

Please allow time to enjoy the beautiful city of Wilmington and county of New Hanover. Public Health history is very rich here. Enjoy the conference and when you return home, please share with your co-workers your renewed SPIRIT!

Sincerely,

Deborah J. Warren
