Welcome
NC Association of Local Health Directors

It is my pleasure to welcome the members of the North Carolina Association of Local Health Directors to our fall educational meeting. It's especially nice to be with great company such as our partners in the North Carolina Public Health Association. Our education committee has planned good learning experiences for us as well as fun activities to be shared with NCPHA. I think this learning and playing together is a good idea. Now if we could just figure out how to do it on horseback!

MiMi Cooper
President, NCALHD

Welcome From North Carolina Public Health Association

Welcome to the 95th Annual Educational Conference of the North Carolina Public Health Association. I hope you're looking forward to an exciting week as we gather again in the beautiful city of New Bern. The Governing Council has work hard over the past several months to put together a conference that is timely and beneficial.

Each year we gather to strengthen our skills, to enrich our knowledge, to explore new ideas and to refresh our spirits. We visit with friends both old and new as we reinforce the bonds we share as "public healthers". During this week together, please take advantage of our workshops and educational sessions, express your thanks to our exhibitors, welcome our guests and speakers, congratulate our award winners and celebrate your involvement in protecting the health of all our citizens.

As I write this letter, Hurricane Alex has just brushed by the Outer Banks, reminding me of why we're meeting in August this year instead of September. Since 1999, it seems more conferences than not have been interrupted by weather events. So we decided to try a different schedule this year. Floyd, Fran & Isabel – while weather may interrupt our conference, it doesn't interrupt public health. Our theme for this year reflects that – Essentials of Public Health: Getting to the Core. No matter what the need, public health will be there. Because of that, we need to continuously develop our core competencies, build our capacity, maintain essential services and integrate best practices. Herbert Spencer stated "The great aim of education is not knowledge but action." That's the purpose for our gathering. For you to share a great learning experience, talk about your experience with others, return to every part of our state and put that knowledge into action each day.

It has been such an honor to serve as your President this past year. I have seen first hand the dedication that our members have in making our Association vibrant and making this week such a success. My hope is that this week will provide you with a time of learning, friendship and renewal.

David Stone, President
North Carolina Public Health Association

Ensuring the Financial Viability of the North Carolina Public Health Association

Thanks to the foresight of several Past Presidents, NCPHA is privileged to have four endowments that support either the association's educational offerings (Wood Endowment), public health workforce (Scholarship), children's health programs at the local health departments (Wolfe Endowment) or NCPHA's financial viability (NCPHA's Foundation for a healthy Future). All of these endowments are administered through the North Carolina Community Foundation and gifts/honorariums/memorials are tax deductible. Please remember NCPHA in your giving and thanks to all of you who have graciously contributed to these endowments that will forever ensure that public health and NCPHA is supported, in part, by the proceeds of these endowments.

Wood Endowment: Proceeds from this Endowment finance the Wood Lecture held during the Annual Educational Conference.*

Scholarship Endowment: Proceeds from this Endowment finance scholarships for NCPHA members seeking formal education in an accredited educational institution that will advance the individual's competence in public health work.*

Wolfe Endowment: Proceeds from this Endowment finance mini-grants to aid local health departments in the reduction of infant mortality and enhancing child health.*

NCPHA Foundation for a Healthy Future: This Endowment ensures the financial viability of the Association with the proceeds going to the operational budget, if necessary.*

For outright gifts, please make check payable to NC Community Foundation, and mail with form to:
North Carolina Public Health Association, PO Box 41487, Raleigh, NC 27629-1487

For Will/Bequest, please forward form to North Carolina Public Health Association:
